

“L'artisan”
is a game created by Jomar Statkun.

It is based on the German board game,
Carcassonne,
in which players
compete to occupy
and complete cities,
roads and farmland.

PLAYERS: AN ARTIST READY TO RETIRE

FOR "L'ARTISAN", STATKUN HAS REMADE ALL THE PIECES BY HAND (114 GAMING TILES, GAME BOARD PIECES, AND A WOODEN BOX THAT HOUSES THE COMPLETE GAME) AND TRANSFORMED THE STRUCTURE AND OBJECTIVE OF THE GAME TO NAVIGATING THE "ART WORLD" - CITIES ARE NOW GALLERIES, ROADS ARE PATHS OF COLLECTORS, AND FARMLAND IS CULTURAL CAPITAL.

How “L’artisan” differs from Carcassonne:

There are many expansion options to the basic game of Carcassonne...

- In “L’artisan”, only two of these expansions have been used and manipulated to create the “L’artisan” board game.
- These two expansions are: Inns & Cathedrals and Traders & Builders
- Now in “L’artisan”: Inns & Cathedrals = Graduate Schools & Art Fairs, Traders & Builders = Fortunes & Curators

DURING THE GAME, THE PLAYERS TAKE ON THE ROLE OF ARTISTS, AND THE PIECES THEY USE ON THE BOARD REPRESENT THEIR ARTWORK.
